Attention Apprentices! You may not cancel your course online, and instead you must contact Wisconsin Laborers' Apprenticeship Coordinator Ray Wiatt at (608) 846-5764 or rwiatt@liunawisconsin.org.

Apprentices need 144 training hours per season, and a total of 400 training hours to graduate from their registered apprenticeship.

Journeyworker Laborers ARE available for work when attending classes.

If you are called back to work while attending classes, you will stop training and return to work.

Wisconsin Laborers' Apprenticeship & Training Fund 2024-2025 Class Schedule

LODGING

For multiple-day classes, the option of staying at the hotel that the Wisconsin Laborers' Apprenticeship & Training Fund provides is available to laborers who live 50+ miles from the Training Center.

TRANSPORTATION

Laborers who are staying at the hotel will be reimbursed for mileage from their home to the Training Center and back.

Laborers who are commuting and not staying at the hotel will be paid $20/day. Check payments will be made upon the completion of the class.

If you ride with someone else also attending a class at the Training Center, you will not receive any mileage allowance.

MEALS

The Wisconsin Laborers' Apprenticeship & Training Center does not provide meals. Students should bring their own lunch. Large coolers, microwaves, snack and soda machines, paper plates, napkins, silverware, and coffee are provided.

UNION CARDS AND WORK CLOTHES

Members should be paid up on their local union dues to attend classes. Students are required to wear pants, shirts with sleeves, and work boots. The Training Center will provide hard hats and safety equipment, but you may bring your own hard hat if you wish.

REPORTING WITH INJURIES TO THE TRAINING CENTER

Classes at the Training Center are primarily hands-on, involving the physical work of a construction craft laborer. The Training Center does not have the resources to restructure classes to each individual who may have a temporary injury.

1. When a class involves physical work, participants may not enroll in the class if they are currently unable to work as a construction craft laborer because of an injury, whether work-related or non-work-related.
2. When a class does not involve physical labor, but rather classroom lectures and written materials, participants who are unable to work because of an injury, whether work-related or non-work-related, may enroll in the class.

Where the class involves physical work by the participants, participants may not enroll in the class if they are currently unable to work as a construction laborer because of an injury, whether work-related or non-work related. Where a class does not involve physical labor but rather classroom lectures and written materials, participants who are unable to work do to an injury, whether work-related or non-work-related, may enroll in the class.

I agree to notify the Training Center at 800-275-6939 if I return to work or for any reason I am unable to attend the class that I am enrolled in.
